ON THE TRAIL -- Heading for the hills for an early morning jaunt are four out of an average 50 equestrians who daily enjoy riding along more than four miles of trails at Leisure World, Laguna Hills. A dozen saddle-bred Quarter horses are available to residents without charge. More than 2500 rides have been logged since the first of the year.

Bartholomew Enters Trustee Race To Improve Conditions of the District

R. C. (Bob) Bartholomew, of 11680 Skyline Drive, Santa Ana, recently filed for one of the two board of trustee positions openings for the Tustin Union High School District.

Election for the school positions will take place next Tuesday, April 18.

R. C. "Bob" Bartholomew
"trustee candidate"

The following is a prepared statement that Mr. Bartholomew released to the RANCHO REPORTER this week:

"I am campaigning for one of the two openings on the T.U.H.S. Board of Trustees because I feel that as a concerned parent, as well as a perplexed taxpayer, something has to be done to improve the conditions that exist within the district. I'm sure we all agree that there are many problems facing our schools and if some definite action is not taken soon, utter chaos will soon be the result.

"It is my belief that in order to solve these problems, the Trustees of the district should endeavor to utilize the following ideas and suggestions:

"First of all, I feel that we should restore confidence between the Board of Trustees and the citizens of the district. I honestly believe that this is the primary reason for the defeat of the overrides. I think that the taxpayers would not be against spending money within the school if they could honestly feel that it was being spent wisely.

"Second, I believe that we have to strive for an educational program that is balanced to provide the most for the district at the least possible cost. We are getting a great deal for the district, but certainly not at the least possible cost. We must maintain an excellent program, regardless of cost, but must practice frugality wherever possible.

"Third, I feel that the School Board should exert a more positive trusteeship of the schools. At the present time, I believe that the Superintendent has assumed some of the responsibilities of the Trustees and this, if correct, must be changed immediately. The Superintendent is responsible to the Trustees - who in turn are responsible to the citizens, parents, and taxpayers of the district.

"Fourth, there must be more consideration shown the taxpayer by initiating all economies possible. These economies must relate to our use of state and federal aid, as well as our county taxes. Taxes come out of our pocketbook originally, regardless of where they end up.

"Finally, I believe that more use should be made of the citizens of the community. The Citizens' Educational Advisory Group and the Booster Clubs are excellent examples of how the citizens can help the school Trustees and Administrators to keep the school operating with efficiency and harmony.

"If I am elected, I would work very diligently to institute the above program to the fullest extent possible. We have the potential for a top rated school district and we should make every effort to attain that rating.

Mayer Emphasizes Urbanism

Holding a strong belief that the district schools should reflect the growth of the area from a rural to an urban community and should strive for educational excellence, Marvin D. Mayer, 17985 Mann St., Irvine, is a candidate for trustee in the San Joaquin Elementary School District.

Hailing originally from New York, New York, and having been educated in the Baltimore public schools, Mayer received his degree from John Hopkins University in 1954 in Mechanical Engineering.

He has continued his education through extension courses at UCLA and the University of Washington.

After five years in the Air Force as a navigator-radar observer, he is currently a captain in the Air Force Reserves.

Mayer is presently employed by the Douglas Aircraft Co. at the Space Systems Center in

Homeowners Assn. Postpones County Commission Hearing

Aliso Executive Board To Meet With Rose Glen Representatives

By TERRY ALLAN
Rancho Reporter City Editor

Following an extension on the hearing by the county planning commission, the executive board of the Aliso Valley Homeowners Assn. will meet with representatives of Rose Glen Construction Co. tonight at 7:30 p.m. to do battle.

The commission granted the postponement, in the opinion of homeowner's president Chuck Waltman, in the hopes that "the homeowners and Richard) Cavanaugh (Rose Glen head) will agree on some solution to the problem."

The problem in reference to the association and the company evolves from development plans by Cavanaugh and his concern to build 44 duplexes on the El Toro Road, just south of the railroad tracks.

At the commission hearing, more than a dozen representatives from the association presented a petition signed by 189 residents protesting a required zone change that would be necessary for the installation of the 88 units.

Waltman said the petitioners feel "that this type of development would downgrade the community."

Rose Glen was also in favor of the postponement, which moves the hearing to May 5, in order to meet with the homeowners association.

Students To Help Get Back Sports

Students of the three high schools in the Tustin Union High School District will join this week in the effort to finance interscholastic athletic programs through voluntary contributions by citizens of the district.

Adults have raised $35,000 toward the $50,000 budget needed to continue the sports programs at Tustin, Foothill and Mission Viejo High Schools in the 1967-68 school year, according to George Dicks, chairman of the "Sports For Your Kids" committee.

"Now the students will go to work in an attempt to raise the remaining $15,000," he said.

Their first project is a candy sale slated for April 7 through 15. After "kick-off" assemblies Thursday at each school, pupils will conduct the "Save Our Sports" sale of toffee-nut candy door to door in residential areas and at shopping centers throughout the school district.

"This will give many families an opportunity to participate who might not otherwise be in a position to help," Dicks commented.

In addition to Dicks, the citizens committee representing boosters clubs of the three high schools includes Bob Hoyt, Bill Hormuth and Rod Graves.

Vote for School Board Candidates Next Tuesday

This newspaper sincerely hopes you will go to the voting polls next Tues. April 18, and vote for board candidates for the San Joaquin Elementary School District for the Tustin Union High School District.

Our area is growing so rapidly--with the problems that go with rapid growth--that wise, objective, intelligent and fair candidates must be elected to further the educational environment of our community.

Many fine men are running for both boards and the reader should choose the candidate that most nearly meets the educational aims of the individual voter.

But this newspaper encourages you to vote for Warren Wilson, of El Toro, for the Tustin Union High School Board since we feel it is imperative that our area be represented on the greater Tustin Union High School Board of Education.

The only representative from our area running for the Tustin Union High School Board is Warren Wilson. He has served on the board since last fall and has a reputation for being fair, impartial and with the best interests of the student in mind.

Go to the polls next Tuesday and vote for Warren Wilson and for other board candidates that you wish to represent you on the two different governing boards. They will be determining the educational environment of your child for several years.

Viet Torn Marines Come Back

Marine Attack Squadron 214 (VMA-214)--which gained fame and the nickname "Black Sheep" during World War II arrived at El Toro recently following a 21-month tour of duty in the Republic of Vietnam.

The squadron, commanded by Major Richard Hemmingway, of Valdosta, Ga., flew its A-4C Skyhawk jet attack bombers across the Pacific to El Toro, where it becomes tactical unit of Marine Aircraft Group 33, Third Marine Aircraft Wing.

Eight of the 20 Skyhawks arrived at El Toro Monday, April 13, nine arrived Tuesday and two of the aircraft touched down Wednesday afternoon. One remained on Hawaii with mechanical difficulty.

In Vietnam, squadron pilots flew more than 11,000 combat sorties while dropping 10,000 tons of ordnance on enemy targets.

The Black Sheep left for Vietnam in June 1965, from the Marine Corps Air Station, Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii, where it served with Marine Aircraft Group-13, the air arm of the then Hawaii-based First Marine Brigade.

Members of the squadron earned more than 700 personal decorations ranging from the Silver Star, the nation's third highest military decoration, to the Good Conduct Medal, during their overseas stay.

HOME AT LAST after nearly two years of duty in the Republic of Viet Nam, Captain Michael O. Boss is welcomed home by his wife upon arrival at El Toro.

LETTERS to the Editor...

Dear Editor,

To date I have not had the chance to meet with the people in your circulation. I feel they need representation due to the great growth potential of the area, whether it be through a person of Mr. Wilson's caliber who lives in the area, or through a person such as myself who has a great interest and sympathy for the students who attend high school at Mission Viejo.

My concern is not just in one particular area of the high school program, but in the development of a well balanced program that takes in all areas including curriculum programming and the extra curricular activities.

A school board member should have the trust, respect, and confidence of the people who he represents, and in turn should trust, respect and have confidence in the people.

At this time I would like to give my vote of confidence to the teaching staff of our district. Through all this turmoil these people have shown the community a truly professional attitude toward the education of our children. Without the teaching profession, there would be no other professions.

Sincerely,
Dickran Boranian

Dear Editor,

Next week we will choose two of eight candidates for the TUHS board. Again it is almost a certainty that the chosen two will have been elected by considerably less than majority vote. Based on the usual turnout, it can be shown that the successful candidates could win with LESS THAN 4 PER CENT of the registered voters casting their ballots for the winners.

This I submit, is hardly government by representation. A voting procedure which permits a run-off between the two top vote-getters for each seat in the event that neither obtains a majority is sorely needed for school board elections. Without it we face the possibilities of candidacies being packed with "ringers" to dilute the votes and insure the election, by a small plurality, of selected candidates. Another potential evil is a last minute blitzkrieg of propaganda with the purpose of impressing the names (not qualifications) of selected candidates into the minds of the voters. This occurred during the recent JC board elections; I predict it will happen this weekend for purpose of influencing the TUHS board elections.

We must accept our responsibilities to vote intelligently on the basis of studied information if we are to have truly representative government. If we don't meet our responsibilities we deserve what we get. Therefore, in the coming TUHS board elections, I urge each voter to:

1. Know the qualifications of the candidates and make your choice dispassionately.
2. Don't be a sheep and submit to a flurry of eleventh hour brain-washing.

REFLECTIONS...

Americans and the Telephone

Foreigners are amazed to find that practically every American family has a telephone. It is a real necessity. It is not a thing to talk about but to talk into. In India the telephone is still a status symbol and it is hardly used. There the telephone directory is like a Who's Who Year Book.

Several telephone numbers, 50 foot cords, and the Princess model in the master bedroom are the latest fads in America. Delightful colors can be easily selected.

The most objectionable feature about the telephone is the constant use of it by aggressive sales people. The telephone is by far the cheapest way to get to the consumer.

Some anxious encyclopedia salesmen call and start the ten-minute pitch about their books only to find out in the end that the party was listening instead to a favorite TV show and that the party already possesses the 30-volume set.

Unlisted telephone numbers are becoming quite popular as a means to avoid the talkative and greasy salesmen. For some it may be a drastic technique as the silence of a quiet telephone is very distressing. After all, a telephone ring is as pregnant as the knock of a telegram boy or the beat of a mailman.

The telephone has become such a necessity in our daily life that even a deep depression could not change this American habit. After all, one needs a telephone to talk with friends about one's miseries as well as one's good fortunes.

The telephone has brought about one big change in our ways. People wrote beautiful letters before. Now people pick up the telephone instead. The written word is no longer a medium of communication between friends or lovers. One of my best friends could not sign a get-well card and mail it to me when I was hospitalized. His monthly telephone bill never amounts to less than $100.

However, a telephone is a more lively medium of communication than the frozen letter. During telephone conversations one can easily pick up the background noises of the TV or crying children or a mate's coaching.

Millions of dollars are being spent on the development of a picture-telephone. I have serious doubts about the success of such a device for home use. This device will sure catch people doing the funniest things in the craziest places. Candid Camera Inc. will probably sue the telephone companies for stealing the idea. The pornographic - literature salesman may find this new medium to his liking.

Computers rather than the TV will be the next impetus to the telephone. Automatic transmission, storage, and retrieval of all forms of information according to an ethical code will be computer controlled. That step will bring man closer to the realization of his true destiny.

COMMON STOCKS
AN INVESTMENT

This is second in a series about common stocks.

A question often asked is, "Is it risky to buy stocks?" An element of risk is present in any investment, and stocks are no exception. Some companies grow and prosper while others go broke.

Business history is full of examples of both gain and loss. An investor who purchased 10 shares of General Motors in 1940 would have paid $468 for them. If he had held them through the years, his investment would have been worth about $6,100 in 1965. In addition, he would have received $2,500 in dividends. On the other hand, an investment in such one time favorites as Auburn Motors and Pierce Arrow would have eventually been worth practically nothing.

However, there is no such thing as an investment without risk.

Even real estate, which has been a favorite of many, has experienced ups and downs.

Even keeping money in a cookie jar involves risk. The value of money goes up and down, so the man who puts money aside in this manner has no assurance that it will always buy as much. Example: in 1965 it took $1.00 to buy what 44 cents would buy in 1940!

Some stocks are riskier than others. The investor, or speculator, in a high risk stock hopes for a greater than average profit.

Before starting a stock investment program, you should define your objectives and determine whether you are prepared to speculate as opposed to investing. Again, a reputable broker is your best source of information.

Mission Viejo Hi Talk

Mission's drama department has gone big time with the filming of their first documentary of life as it is at Mission Viejo. The film is thirty minutes long and interviews various students and teachers to tell their own story of the Diablos activities. Also on the filming agenda was a movie called, "The Beginning and the End," written, produced, and acted by the drama department at Mission. Mrs. Betty Carney, drama teacher, directed both films.

Sophomores have been planning ahead for next year, selecting prospective ring choices for their class rings. These rings will be on order shortly and will probably arrive sometime near next Christmas, according to Jesse James, sophomore class president.

As of now, a rectangular and oval shaped ring have been chosen as the two possibilities for class rings. At the same time, the traditional Diablo ring with the Class of '69 imprinted on it will be available.

Soon to be initiated as the newest club, Mission Viejo is formulating a "Key Club," sponsored by the Kiwanis Clubs of Southern California. Any boy with a "C" average can join. The first meeting today after school in Room 522.

A special assembly last Thursday was held in order to introduce Diablos to the Boosters Club fund raising project for athletics. Butter Toffee Peanuts for $1 will be sold by students to help the Sports For Your Kids Committee.

Forty-four Lettermen were voted into the Letterman's Club Tuesday after school. All lettermen selected were picked by their fellow athletes.

Tickets are now on sale for Mission's first Semi-Formal. The dance will be held at Fullerton Junior College's student lounge on April 21. This affair is planned to be the biggest and best of the year, so plan to buy your tickets early!

Playing last weekend for GAA's Sadie Hawkins dance were "The Remarkable Sound," a new combo on the rock 'n roll scene. Managed by Mrs. Elaine Baker, the boys in the band are Pat Bosi, rhythm guitar; Mark Wickham, base; Tim Schmitz, lead; and Harold Mutz, drums.

These fellows volunteered to perform for free and should be congratulated for their effort.

MVHS Booster's Club Meets Tonight To Discuss Candy

The Booster's Club of the Mission Viejo High School will meet tonight at 8 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the new high school for a report on the candy-drive sale and to watch a sport's film.

The local candy sale drive to raise money for the high school athletic program started last week and is running through April 14.

President of the Booster's Club is Stanley Johnson; Chet Briner, vice-president, Don Moorehouse, secretary, and Bill Stafford, treasurer.

The officers were present last Thursday at a high school assembly where they requested the aid of students in pursuing the candy drive.

George Dicks, recently elected President of the Parent-Teachers Organization for Mission Viejo High School, also attended last week's high school assembly.

ELECTION APRIL 18th

VOTE FOR

WARREN W. WILSON

Mr. Wilson was born and educated in Illinois and after serving three years in the U.S. Navy during World War II continued his education at U.S.C. He has been employed by Crocker Citizen's National Bank for twenty-five years and is a Trust Officer in their Orange County Trust Department in Santa Ana. He lives with his wife, Betty, and two daughters at his El Toro home. One daughter is a student at Mission Viejo High School and one attends Gates Elementary School. Mr. Wilson was recently appointed to the Board to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. George Veeh.

OUR AREA NEEDS REPRESENTATION. Warren Wilson is not only fully qualified but the only candidate from the El Toro, Mission Viejo, Laguna Hills and University Park communities. He believes the Board should provide:

- ★ a strong educational program
- ★ a realistic financial program
- ★ continuous surveillance in elimination of waste
- ★ standards of accreditation
- ★ better communication with the public

... and WE believe that he is the man best qualified to accomplish these important goals.

Regardless of your candidate preference, by all means . . . VOTE!

Women Seeking New Careers Offered Help

Extension Holds 'Career Planning For Mature Women'

Fifty-eight per cent of all women employed in the Orange-County-Long Beach-Los Angeles area are between 30 and 59 - the mature period, according to the latest state Department of Industrial Relations figures.

Aimed at those with some college background who are about to enter these ranks of the women employed is a series of talks and discussions to be held by University of California Extension at the UCI Town Center on six Wednesday mornings beginning today.

Career Planning for Mature Women will offer these women an opportunity to evaluate their skills and training needs on the basis of current requirements.

"We'll also go into career opportunities in Orange County and into new fields which have recently opened for women," says Mrs. Lucille Kuehn, Corona Del Mar, co-ordinator for the series.

"More and more women are meeting the challenge of additional free time as their children grow up and leave home by resuming careers they had interrupted to raise a family, or by starting new ones," says Mrs. Kuehn.

"Other women find they must work because of circumstances.

"Job opportunities for women today are greater than ever," says Mrs. Kuehn, a former social worker earning a masters degree at UCI.

"There are new fields, in the computer and service industries to name just two. Teachers, social workers, and nurses are needed. Many such jobs are open to women who can work only part-time."

"Too often a woman may have better qualifications and capabilities than needed for the job she's doing. Others mistakenly think they can get well-paid jobs with little or no experience or training. These are among the women we'll try to reach with these programs," says Mrs. Kuehn.

The list of guest speakers includes employment counselors, personnel directors, educators and representatives of employment agencies.

Air California Adds Two Flights

Air California, which began scheduled operations between Orange County Airport and San Francisco on January 16 with five round trips a day, increased to seven round trips a day on April 1, according to Richard Dick, vice president of sales.

"Within our second week of operations," says Dick, "we added extra sections on Fridays and Sundays. Our schedule now calls for seven round trips a day plus extra sections on the weekends. This makes a total of 110 flights a week."

Selleck, Board Candidate, Looks Toward Admin. Cuts

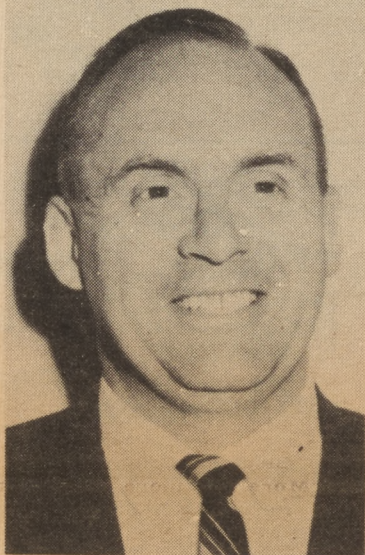

Howard L. Selleck, of 5443646 Catalina Drive, Santa Ana, has filed for one of the two board of trustee positions openings for the Tustin Union High School District.

The candidate has resided with his family in the Tustin area for more than 12 years. He is a graduate of New York State College at Oswego and is presently enrolled in a graduate program at Chapman College. He holds several California teaching credentials, including an administrative credential, and is presently employed at Rio Hondo Junior College, Whittier.

Prior to his position with Rio Hondo, Selleck was employed for eight years as an industrial arts instructor at Tustin Union High School. He has served in private industry for 12 years and was a bomber pilot in World War II.

In an interview with the RANCHO REPORTER this week, Selleck said "an outstanding educational system is perhaps the most important thing in a community; and as a taxpayer, I feel the public monies allotted for education should be wisely and carefully spent."

"Excessive financial outlay is not necessarily consistent with good education."

Selleck has been active with the Citizens Educational Advisory Group in making their recent recommendation of a 42¢ tax override. Any necessary cuts, said Selleck, should be made at the administrative level where the students are not directly affected.

Trustee Hopeful Vs. Construction

"I would oppose further construction of monument type buildings," said Richard T. Brown this week who is a Tustin Union High School Board candidate for the April 18 election.

Brown, president of Martin Aviation and general building contractor, is the parent of a high school student and two prospective students.

In a prepared statement this week, Brown said "This community has the immediate task of applying its intelligence toward constructive solutions and cogent action programs. The responsibility of the board of trustees is to extract the maximum yield from each dollar the community determines it will supply."

Brown, a resident of Tustin since 1956, is a past member of The Tustin Chamber of Commerce, and served as chairman of the successful sewer bond issue for District No. 7.

CANDIDATE BIDART EYES MAXIMUM LEARNING GOAL

Main goal of Gratian D. Bidart, candidate for reelection to San Joaquin Elementary District board of trustees is "to be able to present each pupil in the district with an opportunity for maximum learning of basic academic skills."

Bidart was born in Los Angeles in 1930 and moved to Orange County at the age of nine. The father of three daughters, all attending San Joaquin School District, he has lived in El Toro and Irvine since that time. He attended local schools and upon graduation from Tustin High School became a self-employed rancher and livestock grower.

A former El Toro School District trustee, he has served on the San Joaquin board for the past three years. He is active in Elks Club, St. Nicholas Parish Council, El Toro Volunteer Fire Department and is presently on the board of directors of Laguna Hills Rotary Club.

Bidart feels, "The function of our school board is to set policies so that goal of maximum learning may be attained. Each member must be able to reflect the needs of the community. With the rapid expansion of our area this reflection takes time and judgment. I have served on this board for nearly three years. During this time we have almost tripled in average daily attendance. Having faced this growth, I feel that I am qualified to continue as a school board member."

According to the 28-year resident of Orange County, "Each student should be challenged academically. He should have an understanding of health and physical fitness and a loyal respect for his fellow man, his community and his country."

Bartholomew Runs

Bartholomew was born in 1922, attended the Tustin Elementary Schools, Tustin Union High School, Santa Ana College and graduated from UCLA with the class of 1949.

He lives with his wife, Pat; son Mark who is a junior at Foothill High School, and daughter, Linda, who is a freshman at Foothill High. He has lived in the Tustin area since 1929 and is occupied in the field of agriculture.

In addition to being active in professional organizations, Bartholomew served on the Steering Committee for the formation of the South Coast Junior College District; served two years on the board of the C. E. Utt Parent Teacher Council; served as Little League Manager for three years and has been active in the Indian Guides.

He served in the air force three years during World War II.

Board Ok's 45c Override Vote

The Governing Board of the Tustin Union High School District gave approval last week for a 45¢ tax override to take place on June 13.

It will be the third attempt, within a year, for the district to pass an override election.

The decision to call a third election was made following a recommendation from the Citizens Educational Advisory Group that an override of at least 41 cents to be sought by the end of the current fiscal year. The Governing Board boosted the tax override to 45¢.

The trustees split 3-2 in deciding to make another attempt at obtaining additional operating revenues for the coming school year. If the tax override continues to fail, more than one million dollars will have to be cut from the school budget for the coming fiscal year.

Fair Livestock Committee Officers

John Knight, 4-H Club advisor from Fullerton, and Mike Thompson, Future Farmers of America instructor from Orange, were elected co-chairmen of the 1967 Orange County Fair Junior Livestock Auction Committee recently at the Agricultural Extension Service Bldg. in Anaheim. Representatives of eight FFA and seven 4-H clubs from throughout Orange County attended this first meeting of the year.

LOCAL GOMER PYLE COMICS

'Toro Pair Turn Heads With TV Stars

"You gotta be kiddin'," was the administrative man's comment as he stared at the two Marines checking in at the Marine Corps Air Facility.

"Sergeant Carter and Lance Corporal Pyle."

Television fans in Southern California are familiar with the two names as principals in a popular show entitled "Gomer Pyle, USMC."

The air facility now has its own brand of humor-in-uniform in the person of Staff Sergeant Clifford R. Carter and Lance Corporal Timothy H. Pyle.

Pyle, like his television namesake, is a tall, gaunt young Marine of Southern extraction. Sergeant Carter is a veteran Marine, of medium height and heavier build much like his television counterpart.

Pyle and Carter don't have much time for TV-type banter in their duties with the quality control section of HMMT-302.

They help inspect the maintenance and repair work done on the squadron's CH-46 D helicopters. Seeing them working together in the squadron area, however, never fails to extract a wry comment or two.

Pyle, from Mobile, Ala., "jes cain't say," whether Sgt. Carter resembles the scowling marine Drill Instructor of TV fame. Carter, on the other hand, opines that Pyle is "similar in many respects to that fellow on television."

Carter and Pyle have become accustomed to scowling and cowering respectively for the entertainment of fellow Marines. "It gets pretty tiresome," says Carter, "but it's all in fun."

Carter, who hails from Peoria, Ill., contends that he might be better off wearing a drill instructor's "Smokey Bear" hat. "It's been like this since we got here," he said. "When your're two Marines named Carter and Pyle, you don't stand a chance."

TV TWOSOME--Staff Sergeant Clifford R. Carter (left) shows Lance Corporal Timothy H. Pyle how to use an aircraft maintenance tool at Marine Corps Air Facility.

University Extension Offers History Of Japan Film Series

A series of Japanese films - some of them prize-winners never before shown in Orange County - will be screened beginning Thursday at Corona del Mar High School's Little Theater by University of California Extension.

Opener is "The Men Who Tread on The Tiger's Tale," a satire on militarism in the 12th Century produced shortly after the end of World War II.

All of the films will have English sub-titles and curtain-time is 7:30 p.m.

General admission is $2.25, student tickets are $1, and series tickets are $12 each.

The series is planned as a kaleidoscope of Japan and her people, reaching back to feudal times and moving through World War II into the island nation's postwar readjustment.

Future film showings include The Bailiff (1954), April 20; The Human Condition (1959), May 4; The Burmese Harp (1956), May 18; Downtown (1951), June 1; Carmen Comes Home (1951), June 8.

Open to the public, the series is held in conjunction with an extension course in the History of Japan. UCI Prof. George Kent, the course instructor and an authority on Japanese History and Oriental languages, will introduce each film with comments on its historical setting and its contribution to the understanding of Japan's people, customs and history.

HALLUCINATING . . .

THE RIGHT TO KNOW

Censorship in both movies and books, generally what the government has labeled "literature" often bothers members of the new generation.

Many of us fail to understand where the government gets off deciding just what is good and bad for us to see, hear, or read.

The ancient concept of people being monkeys who should "see no evil, speak no evil, hear no evil" is dead.

Education has taught us that only through observation of all sides, including all variables, may we decide what is "wrong."

That an agent of the people, or even some self possessed representatives of society would deprive us of the right to observe what some men consider important for us to know disturbs the new generation.

Perhaps with the mental and emotional problems present in the minds of many members of today's world, some people must be protected against thoughts that might hurt them.

But, for the most part, youth believes it is not up to the government or any other group of the whole to decide who must be protected. For they say it is everyone.

Censorship should be limited to the individual, his friends and family.

People who don't know me-how I think, observe, react or accept-have no right to censor what I see, hear or read.

Festival 'Pageant Of The Masters' Issues Urgent Call For 100 Models

Anyone for posing.

A call for over 100 live models has gone out from the Laguna Beach Festival of Arts to round out the huge cast of over 600 persons who will make up the world-famous Pageant of the masters.

Casting Directors Gary Dunlap and Mimi MacGowan are seeking more men and women to pose for the 27 re-creations of great paintings and classic sculpture.

The models are costumed and posed exactly as the master painters and sculptors conceived them, and the final cast will include some 600 models and alternates, both adults and children.

"Men and women of all sizes, shapes and ages are needed," the Pageant casting directors state. "Families are particularly wanted, since many families are used in either the same cast or the same masterpiece."

Ten persons, male and female, are also being sought for nude posing, Mrs. Dunlap and Mrs. MacGowan add. These models will be used to re-create Cellini's "Salt Cellar," Wedgwood's "Choice of Hercules," the Andirons at Versailles, Martin's "Home From the Sea" and Hyde Park's famous Joy of Life statue.

About 320 people will serve in the two casts, which alternate weekly during the six-week showing of the Pageant July 7-August 19. Another 300 persons will be needed as alternate models, runners, make-up artists and stagehands.

This year's production will utilize more male than female models, although more female models have applied. No more children are needed. Approximately 51% of the applicants come from outside the South Coast area, according to Don Williamson, producer of the internationally known spectacle.

Members of the production committee of the Laguna Festival of Arts are Paul D. Griem, chairman; Verner C. Beck, and Stuart Durkee, all of Laguna Beach.

'U' Extension Investments Discussions

With a rapidly changing stock market and real estate investment picture as background, University Extension is presenting a series of 12 public lectures on investments which began April 5 at the Anaheim Central Library, 500 W. Broadway.

"Family Security Through Investment Planning" is being held each Wednesday from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Topics being covered include investment through financial institutions; insurance as an investment and as protection; investment for income in Orange County real estate; investing in a home; stocks, bonds and mutual funds; the commodity market, taxes and your investments, and foreign exchange and coins.

Planner, co-ordinator as well as one of the nine speakers in the series is Dr. Virginia M. K. Belt, Huntington Harbour.

Dr. Belt is associate professor of Investment and Corporate Finance at California State College, Long Beach. Last year she made a tour and study of the nation's 14 stock exchanges under a state grant.

She traveled in a plane flown by her husband, James, an investor and English instructor at Bolsa Grande High School, Garden Grove.

For further details, contact Extension at UCI in Room 1325, Campus Hall, or call 833-5414.

Pro Secretaries Plan Local Group

Representatives of the Professional Secretaries Assn. will hold a dinner meeting tonight for the purpose of establishing a Unit in the Orange County area.

The dinner meeting will be held at the Saddleback Inn, Santa Ana Freeway and First Street, in Santa Ana.

Social hour begins at 6:30 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. Beef Stroganoff will be served at $4.25. For reservations please contact Miss Margit Kay at 540-3210, Extension 200.

The Professional Secretaries Assn. is composed of business women dedicated to the furtherance of the highest standards and goals among secretaries. The organization's main goal is to have the secretarial field recognized as a profession throughout the business world.
